

A Few Straw Hats

Remain from Our Big Summer Stock and

EVERYONE IS REDUCED

Eckert's Store

"ON THE SQUARE"

P. S. All Oxfords Reduced Too.

PHOTOPLAY

DEATH'S WITNESS BIOGRAPH
The son is blamed for the murder of his father.

MISS RAFFLES VITAGRAPH COMEDY
She robs her own safe and it strikes everybody funny the police are sent away. With DOROTHY KELLY.

THE VENGEANCE OF VAQUERO KALEM
Dolores tries to save her soldier sweetheart from execution.

Show Starts 6:30 Admission 5 Cents

WALTER'S THEATRE

TO-NIGHT

THE PHOTO DRAMA OF CREATION.

Under the auspices of the International Bible Students Association.

Admission Free to all.

Matinee to-day 3 P. M. Evening Show 8 P. M.

A MATINEE AND EVENING SHOW WILL ALSO BE RUN SUNDAY. ADMISSION FREE.

Clear your Stables and Out Buildings Of FLYS and GERMS

We sell a preparation which is guaranteed to rid your stock and stables of these annoying pests. It is easily and quickly applied and also acts as a good disinfectant.

Have it shown to you at the

PEOPLE'S DRUG STORE

Agents for Rexall and A. D. S. Remedies, Victorlans, Kodaks.

J. D. LIPPY, TAILOR

Careful analysis of individual requirements is the basis of our exclusive tailoring service. Fabrics in accord with the latest mandates of fashion.

SUITS $16.00 UP

J. D. LIPPY, TAILOR

.... LIGHTNING RODS

To the public: Any one wanting new rods of almost any make—cable or copper twisted—or wanting old lightning rods repaired at reasonable price should call on either phone.

H. E. RIDDLEMOSER

McKnightstown, Pa.

1915 GRANT $425

The Grant motor develops 21 H. P. with a gasoline consumption of thirty miles to the gallon. It will easily drive the car at 50 miles an hour yet so harmoniously do the parts work together—so perfectly balanced in every part, that there is scarcely any vibration.

HAVE A DEMONSTRATION AND BE CONVINCED

GETTYSBURG MOTOR GARAGE
25-27 WASHINGTON STREET

BODIES OF THREE SOLDIERS FOUND

Bones, Bullets and Two Five Dollar Gold Pieces Dug up on Poor House Farm. Evidently the Bodies of Three Union Soldiers.

The remains of three Union soldiers buried on the First Day's Field were uncovered this morning by George Woodward on the County Home farm while he was hunting bullets. With the bones were found some money, a number of buttons, and two bullets, possibly responsible for the death of one or more of the men. Some belongings of the men who met their death on Gettysburg's field were found with the bones.

Mr. Woodward, who for some time has made a habit of collecting battlefield relics, this morning secured a shovel and was digging up the earth in the field in quest of bullets. When he had gotten about thirteen inches below the surface he struck some grey matter which he examined more closely and found it to be the bone of a human leg. He dug more carefully then and uncovered all the main bones of the arms and legs of three men.

The smaller bones had all disintegrated and there was no evidence of the skulls except a number of teeth which were found in perfect condition. The buttons from the uniforms were there to the number of several dozen. Some of them indicated a soldier of commissioned rank, and were the New York Excelsior button. Others were evidently from those of privates' uniforms. With the bones were found portions of shoes.

The most valuable part of the whole discovery from a financial standpoint was two five dollar gold pieces, one of the date of 1833 and the other dated 1844. Mr. Woodward took charge of all except the bones, which he reburied and marked the spot. It is likely that they will be disinterred and reburied in the Soldiers' National Cemetery.

It is very rare that, in finding the remains of soldiers on the battlefield, money is discovered for it is presumed the clothing was all carefully gone through before burial was made. Either there was necessity for haste here or else one of the men had some reason for concealing the coins and they were never discovered until more than half a century after his burial. The discovery of the bones and other things was made not far from the old Alms House cemetery. Mr. Woodward later disposed of the two bullets to several of the Connellsville excursionists.

NEW OXFORD

New Oxford—Mr. Gunn, superintendent of the Livingston shoe factory, left in his auto for his home at Rochester, to spend his vacation with his family.

Burgess and Mrs. G. S. Hummer left on Wednesday morning for a week's visit with Mr. Hummer's brother, in Upper Latimore, and his sister, near Dillsburg.

Mrs. Kathryn Rohr and son, James, of Philadelphia, spent a few days at the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. S. Swamley.

Mrs. Frank Feiser spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al. Garber, who removed into their new home in Hampton, last week.

Miss Elizabeth Stough, of Canton, Ohio, is spending some time with her uncle and aunt, C. C. Stough and Miss Mary Stough.

Theodore E. Warner and wife left on Monday morning for a few weeks' visit to Baltimore, and Royal Oak, Maryland.

William Wolf, wife and daughter, of York, spent a few days with friends in town. Mrs. Wolf is a sister of Solomon Keeney.

Miss Marie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Smith, of Columbia, is spending a two weeks' vacation with friends in New Oxford, Hanover and McSherrytown.

Mrs. William Altland, of East Berlin, and daughter, Mrs. Sanderson, of New York, visited at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. W. A. Feiser.

MRS. SHEELY HURT

Tripped on Crossing Plate and Received Painful Bruises.

Mrs. W. C. Sheely, of Springs avenue, tripped and fell on the iron crossing plate at the southeast corner of Middle and Washington streets this morning painfully bruising her one hand and knee. Fortunately no bones were broken.

EXCURSIONIST IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Fourteen Year Old Boy Becomes Dizzy from Car Sickness, Falls from Platform and May Die from his Injuries.

John A. Dowling, a fourteen year old boy on the excursion which came from Connellsville to Gettysburg this morning, fell from the train near Maria Furnace and sustained injuries which may result in his death. He is now in the York hospital.

Young Dowling was coming to Gettysburg unaccompanied by any near relatives and when he became sick from the motion of the cars went out to the platform alone. There he grew dizzy and suddenly lurched forward. The train was traveling at a speed of possibly twenty five miles an hour at the time and the boy was thrown heavily, rolling along the side of the track for some little distance.

As soon as the conductor was notified he stopped the train and a physician, Dr. Laughrey, of Connellsville, who chanced to be among the excursionists, gave the boy attention. It was deemed best not to bring him here on the excursion and when the regular morning train from Highfield arrived the lad was placed on it. At Gettysburg the train was met by Dr. Hartman, the company physician, who accompanied him to York where he was taken to the hospital.

Dr. Laughrey, who made the preliminary examination and gave the boy first attention, said that he had a slight fracture of the skull and that he was evidently suffering from internal injuries. At the time he left Gettysburg he had not regained consciousness.

Young Dowling is a son of Richard Dowling, of 125 East Church Place, Connellsville. The father was notified by railroad employees of the accident and is expected to go to the hospital at York. He is sexton of the Catholic church at Connellsville.

The excursion brought exactly 1046 people. They were accompanied by the Connellsville Band which gave several brief concerts on the streets of town during the day.

HARNEY

Harney—Marion Bush, of Boonsboro, is here on a visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Newcomer.

J. F. Kiser is having his wagon shed, which was blown from its foundation during our recent hail storm, torn down and rebuilt.

Charles Hartdagen, who had been conducting a shoe repair shop here, left on Sunday morning for Gettysburg.

The Mystic Chain are making further improvements to their hall.

H. J. Wolf has taken the third floor from his building and put on a metal roof, to replace the one recently destroyed by hail.

J. W. Shriner, of Hanover, spent several days visiting friends in this place last week.

Elmer Hess is having his buildings repainted, and his brick house washed and penciled, which adds greatly to the appearance of the place.

HAMPTON

Hampton—Sylvester Miller is putting up a new front porch at his house in town.

Mrs. D. A. Fissel and three children, Spring Grove, spent a few days recently with friends here.

Cleveland Hoover, wife and child, and Clinton Crab Sundayed with Edward Becker near Hanover.

Harry Miller, wife and son, Johnson, Guldens; Mrs. W. B. Malaun and two children; Mrs. William Albright, Hanover; George Heltzel, wife and son, Clare, of York; Chester Chronister, wife and son, Morris, were among the guests at the home of Allen Malaun over Sunday.

UNION SERVICE

Final Service will be held on Campus Sunday Evening.

The series of union church services for this summer will come to a close Sunday evening when the last meeting will be held on the College Campus at half past six o'clock. Should the weather be unfavorable it will be held in Brua Chapel. Dr. A. E. Wagner will preach the sermon. The College Lutheran and Presbyterian Christian Endeavor societies will hold a union meeting in Brua Chapel immediately after the church service. Miss Carrie Musselman will be the leader.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR PRISONERS

Court Says Furnishing Liquor to Known Intemperate is Worst of Minor Offenses. Some Prisoners are Paroled. Desertion Case.

Two prisoners were given jail sentences and a number of cases were disposed of at a session of Court this morning.

Harry Miller, of Harrisburg, arrested several weeks ago for exhibiting an obscene picture on the streets of town, pleaded guilty and ascribed the trouble to liquor, claiming that he would not have received or shown the picture if he had known what he was doing. Miller put up the usual tale of being the sole support of a widowed mother and said if he were given his freedom he would go straight to Harrisburg and get work. "But you say you left there because you couldn't get work", said the Court. Miller could not give a satisfactory reply. One month in the jail was imposed.

J. W. Brown, found guilty of furnishing liquor to Joseph Yohe, a man of known intemperate habits, was given the full extent allowed—two months in the county jail. "If the limit were more—say eight months—we would give you that", said Judge Swope. "This crime is the cause of more trouble than any other minor offense. It is men who commit this crime that make it difficult for others who try to overcome the drink habit. I don't believe there is a single licensed place in Gettysburg that would sell liquor to Joe Yohe and yet they would be blamed if he were seen intoxicated."

Harry Pittenturf pleaded guilty to the larceny of a rifle worth $11.50. The District Attorney told of his having sold it. Pittenturf said that he had returned the stolen property. Officer Emmons said he had never heard any other adverse reports about him, and as it was his first offense, the Court placed the boy on parole for the period of two years. He said that he would be eighteen years of age in October. Pittenturf agreed to pay the costs amounting to about $16 at the rate of $1 a week.

Harry Taylor, who was arrested about ten days ago, following an attack upon his wife, came up for sentence. Judge Swope said "Now, I understand if we let you go, you will leave town at once and not bother your wife any more."

"Yes, sir", said the prisoner emphatically.

"You will be sure to keep the peace", asked the Court.

"Yes sir", still more earnestly. "I'll have to keep the peace 'cause I'll never see her no more."

Taylor was given his freedom.

Mary Plank, charged with a serious crime, was given into the hands of the Sheriff until the payment of costs is made.

The desertion case against Harry W. Snyder came up and, after a prolonged effort of the Court to effect a reconciliation, the charge was dismissed upon the defendant paying the costs and the wife agreeing to go to Shamokin to live with him about October first, provided he had secured a home by that time.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS

Home of Miss McClellan Scene of Party for Guest.

Miss Majelle McClellan entertained a few friends at her home in honor of Charles Fortune, of Philadelphia. Those present were Misses Mildred Gilbert, Blanche Noel, Bonnylin Gilbert, Mary Tate, Maybelle Lott, Eunice Baker, Ethel Rahn, Marjorie Tate, Ruth Tate, Georgia Amen, Bernatte Lott, Ruth Gilbert, Majelle McClellan, Messrs. Charles Fortune, Lloyd Gilbert, Charles Sterner, Robert Jones, Samuel Noel, James Aumen, Harry Aumen, Charles McClellan.

GOT THE RESULT

Lost Dog Returned to Owner through Times Local.

Friday evening's Times contained a small local telling of a fox terrier dog being lost and asking its return. The ad brought the results for the finder immediately restored the lost property after reading the paper.

Jacob A. Appler, of East High street, went to Atlantic City this morning where his son, Guy Appler, has been taken ill with appendicitis.

CHURCH WEDDING FRIDAY EVENING

Miss Nellie R. Weaver and L. E. Enterline Married in Trinity Reformed Church. Reception at Bride's Home afterward.

In a wedding of exceptional beauty, Miss Nellie Rhodes Weaver of Gettysburg, and LeRoy E. Enterline Esq., of Ashland, were married Friday evening at seven o'clock in Trinity Reformed church. The church was very beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers, sun flowers lending a most artistic touch.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Ethel Thompson, of New York, sang "O Perfect Love". Miss Louise Stahl played the Lohengrin March as the wedding party entered the church. They were preceded by the four ushers, Maurice S. Weaver, Gettysburg; Dr. J. McCrea Dickson, Philadelphia; Charles N. Neiman, Ashland; and George D. Enterline, Shamokin. The bridesmaids followed carrying baskets of nasturtiums. They were Miss Mabel Sheetz, New Oxford; Miss Mildred Stauffer, Walkersville, Maryland; Miss Edmonia Nolly, of Baltimore; and Miss Janet Cunningham, Fairfield. They were gown-d in white lingerie evening dresses with girdles of green meline. They wore lace Castle caps.

The maid of honor, Miss Haddie Erlenbaugh, of Altoona, wore a gown of green crepe de chine and also carried a basket of nasturtiums. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with princess lace. Her veil was of duchess lace and she carried a shower of bridal roses.

Mr. Enterline and the groomsmen, George K. Shearer, of York, met the wedding party at the altar and the ceremony was performed by Dr. T. J. Barkley, the ring service of the Reformed church being used. The Mendelssohn march was used as the recessional and, immediately after the service, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver on Baltimore street.

At half past ten Mr. and Mrs. Enterline went to York by automobile and from there left for a three weeks' honeymoon after which they will be at home at Ashland, where Mr. Enterline is a practicing attorney. He is a graduate of Gettysburg College, a former student of the Law Department, University of Pennsylvania, and a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

The bride's gifts were unusually numerous and beautiful. Among the out of town guests were S. M. Enterline, Ashland; Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer, of Walkersville, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Kleinfelter, of Chestertown, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, of Baltimore; Mrs. D. K. Houck and Roy Houck, of New York City; Miss Frances Ross, Miss Fannie Shower, Miss Grace Fleck, of Altoona; Miss Ethel Nicodemus, of Walkersville; Miss Mary Reus, of New York City; Earl Nicodemus, of Altoona; Samuel Stevenson, of Darlington, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin J. Batdorf, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Batdorf, and Miss Ethel Batdorf, of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Elber Ball, and Miss Marian Ball, of Mahanoy City; Mrs. Cornelius Miller, of Manchester, Md., and Miss Fannie Brown, of Baltimore.

$90,000 Y. M. C. A.

Waynesboro to Spend Big Sum for its Young Men.

The board of directors of the Waynesboro Y. M. C. A. have decided to erect a building at a cost of about $68,600, to be furnished at an expenditure of $10,000. The ground on which it is to be placed cost $11,000, making a total outlay of almost $90,000. The plans provide for the use of two stories—the third and fourth—as dormitories. There will be 38 rooms for lodgers on these two floors—nineteen on a floor—and it is estimated the revenue from these will be $4000 a year.

USHERS ORGANIZE

Methodist Men Elect their Officers and Outline Plans.

The Ushers Association of the Methodist church met in the boys' room Friday evening and held a social and business meeting. Officers for the organization were elected as follows: president, C. F. Solt; secretary, Raymond Lentz; treasurer, H. A. Crouse. Plans were outlined for future activities of this organization. Refreshments were served.

EAST BERLIN FOR NEXT CONVENTION

Adams County Sabbath School Workers Adjourn after Selecting East End Town for Next Year's Meeting. Officers Elected.

After selecting the Reformed church, at East Berlin as the place for holding next year's meeting the Adams County Sabbath School Association closed its annual convention at St. John's church, near Littlestown, Friday evening. The following officers were elected and appointments made for the coming year:

President, Prof. Roy D. Knouse, Arendtsville; vice presidents, Rev. D. W. Woods, Fairfield; Rev. F. E. Taylor, Gettysburg; Rev. T. C. Hesson, Arendtsville; Mervin Wintrobe, Littlestown; H. F. Stambaugh, Abbottstown; and M. L. Power, York Springs; corresponding secretary, Miss Lily Dougherty, Gettysburg; recording secretary, Miss Rhea March, Abbottstown; assistant, Miss Alma Henry, Cashtown; treasurer, I. C. Bucher, Bendersville.

Superintendents, elementary, Miss Myrtle Watkins, Biglerville; secondary, T. J. Winebrenner, Gettysburg; organized adult Bible class, L. M. Alleman, Littlestown; teachers' training, H. C. Lady, Arendtsville, and H. W. Swartz, Littlestown; missionary, Miss Nettie Swartz, New Oxford; temperance, C. S. Reaser, Gettysburg; rural, Miss Nora Kauffman, East Berlin.

The reports of work for the past year showed very encouraging progress. At Friday's session addresses were made by Rev. C. A. Oliver, York; Mrs. Arthur Roberts, Arendtsville; Rev. C. W. Baker, New Oxford; and Prof. Roy D. Knouse. The association placed itself on record as favoring universal peace and the abolishment of the liquor trade.

W. G. Landes, state secretary, made several addresses during the day, his illustrated travel talk in the evening closing the convention.

PERILOUS FALL

Young Boy on Load of Stone as it Goes over Embankment.

Backing over a twenty five foot embankment with a load of stone, two horses almost caused the death of James Moore, a fourteen year old son of Henry Moore. The accident occurred near Dick's Dam, below New Oxford, Thursday afternoon.

Young Moore and John Ampsacher, were hauling stone from the Dick farm for the chimney and porch-piers of the cottage being erected along the Big Conewago by Mrs. Emma Kendig, of Hanover.

The wagon had been loaded with stone, and Moore was on the wagon. When ready to start Ampsacher opened the brake and the horses started to back. The team went down over an embankment, which is about 25 feet high at that place. Fortunately, when the wagon hit the bottom, young Moore was hurled a distance of about 20 feet, or he would have been crushed under the heavy load. Had he been thrown six feet farther he would have fallen into the water.

His injuries consist of a cut across the head, which required five stitches to close, a cut above the right eye and bruises on his back.

One of the horses was injured, receiving two large gashes on the foreleg. The harness was badly torn and the box of the wagon broken to pieces.

Dr. J. L. Sheetz, of New Oxford, rendered the medical attention to the unfortunate lad, after which he was taken to his home, about a mile distant.

PEACH TRAIN

Special Train Daily to Take Out Peach Shipments.

Four thousand baskets of peaches in one day were picked in the orchards of Levi M. Myers in Warrington township, York County, on Wednesday. On an average of two carloads of peaches a day are now being shipped from the Dillsburg station, which will continue for at least the next two weeks. The Cumberland Valley Railroad makes a special run from Mechanicsburg to Dillsburg with an engine each evening at 7:30 to take the cars out.

THE farm of James F. Rider, near Round Top, on which the barn was recently destroyed by lightning will be sold September 12. Particulars later.—advertisement

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES

Published Daily Except Sunday
Times and News Publishing Company

W. LAVERE HAFER,
Secretary and Treasurer.

PHILIP R. BIKLE,
President.

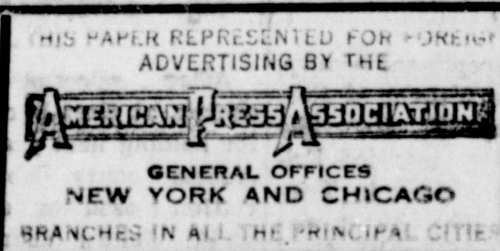

PHILIP R. BIKLE, Editor.

SUBSCRIPTION Served by carrier in Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
Mailed outside of Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
RATES Single copies to non-subscribers, 2 cents.

IF you receive THE TIMES by mail you can find the date up to which you are paid on the pink address label on your paper. The date will be changed within ten days after your money is received at The Times Office.

Entered August 15, 1904, at Gettysburg, Pa., as second-class matter, under Congress March 3, 1879.

BELL PHONE UNITED PHONE
Office in Northwest corner of Centre Square, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Want ads. One cent per word each insertion. Two cents a word if guaranteed first page position. Resolutions of respect, poetry and memorials one cent per word.

TO OUR READERS

The Gettysburg Times takes absolutely no part in politics, being neutral on all such matters. Anything that appears in our general news columns, concerning state or national politics, is furnished us by The American Press Association, a concern which gives the same news to Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, or Socialist papers and which is strictly non-partisan. Our advertising columns are open to all candidates of all parties.

WE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN

Headquarters for Wash-Machines

A new machine has just arrived with a power attachment—one that can be run by people operating small gasoline engines—to sell, including gearing, for Fifteen Dollars. Four other approved kinds on hand. If you have an engine don't miss looking at this machine.

The Tools in our Window are from the best American manufacturers. We feature hatchets this week. An inspection of our south window will show you one of every available size and weight. Just an idea of the Variety we Carry.

Adams County Hardware Co.

Adams County People Who Contemplate a Trip

SHOULD have the
GETTYSBURG
TIMES follow them.

They will be kept informed of all home news.

The Times will be mailed anywhere in United States for 25 cents per month.

Addresses may be changed as often as desired.

BELL TELEPHONE 6 M.
UNITED TELEPHONE 91 W.

For Sale

Hogs and cattle of all kinds.

J. T. Riggeal, Orttanna, Pa.

AN ARMY OF 3,000,000 NOW FACES THE ALLIES

Germans Pushing Their Advance.

TO MOVE ON VERDUN

French Have Destroyed Bridges
Over River Meuse.

GERMANS LOSE 60,000 MEN

British Troops Suffer a Severe Reverse at Maubeuge.

Paris, Aug. 29.—Like a great flood swallowing all before it, the German advance is pouring into northeastern France.

Three million men of the kaiser's forces are hurling themselves against the allies' second line of defenses, two rect of Bavaria, and the army of the Saar, under the Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, and the army of the Moselle, commanded by the imperial Crown Prince Frederick William, having effected a complete junction. These vast forces have struck and apparently overwhelmed the French advance posts and are pushing forward with wonderful rapidity.

The German advance has already reached the vicinity of Verdun and has come in contact with the corps that centre there. The fall of Longwy, after a heroic defense lasting more than three weeks, cleared the way for their advance.

It is rumored here that the allies have been defeated at several points between Lille and Sedan, but as yet there is no confirmation of the report. The Moselle army holds the towns of Villerupt, Longuyon, Joppécourt, Audouin-Roman, Briery and probably Montmedy. Its cavalry has crossed the river. Chiffers toward the Meuse. Behind the Meuse, between Verdun and Sedan, lies a great French force and the most powerful artillery that has ever been made.

All bridges across the Meuse have been destroyed and the German forces will have to hit the French with terrific force in order to break through and join the army of the Meuse which is operating in the direction of Lille.

The war office maintains that the French troops are successful in the Vosges campaign. That the fighting there is evidenced by an announcement that the bodies of 1,000 German soldiers were found in one district where the French were victorious. This slaughter is attributed to the superior French artillery.

It was stated that the fall of Longwy occurred only after half of the little garrison had been killed. Orders for the surrender are said to have been sent from Paris by wireless, which connects all the French military posts.

A wounded Zouave officer, who arrived in Paris, estimated the German losses in the three-day battle of Charleroi at 60,000 killed and wounded.

"The German artillery produced terrific explosions," he said, "but did little damage. The French artillery was most deadly, whole ranks of the Germans were mowed down by shrapnel."

10,000 BRITISH KILLED

Britain Lost 10,000 in Fighting in Belgium.

London, Aug. 29.—Premier Asquith announced in the house of commons that the British troops in Wednesday's fighting were exposed to the attack of five German army corps. The losses on both sides, he said, were great.

The premier stated that the battle took place near Cambrai. This town is about ninety miles from Paris. The brunt of the attack was borne by two British cavalry divisions, the reserves guard cavalry and the second division and by the British second army corps. The main attack against these forces was made by the German cavalry, but at the same time the British first army corps was being assailed on the right.

"Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy," said the premier, "but the exact numbers were not known."

An Ostend dispatch to the Chronicle says that German soldiers who reached Courtrai declared that 10,000 British soldiers had been killed in the fighting in Belgium.

French Preparing to Move Capital
A letter received from Paris by a high government official says that preparations are being made to move the French government to Bordeaux. The name of the recipient of this letter, for obvious reasons, cannot be given in this dispatch.

Having smashed the first line defense of the Franco-British allied army, the advance guard of the Germans has pushed beyond Lille, in France, bending southward in the direction of Paris.

The invaders are believed to be as-

President of French Cabinet Reorganizes Body

The French ministry headed by Premier Rene Viviani, resigned in a body. Another cabinet was immediately formed. Premier Viviani visited Elysee palace and notified President Poincare that the members of the cabinet had decided to resign collectively. He said that he and his colleagues had come to the conclusion that in the circumstances through which the country was passing the ministry should have a wider scope and comprise all the best men in all the republican groups. President Poincare charged Viviani with the task of organizing a new cabinet, which the premier accepted. He returned to the Elysee about an hour later and made known to the president the composition of the new ministry.

scuttling the strongly entrenched position of the British and French along the left wing and further fighting is also reported from the center, where the Kaiser's host is trying to batter its way through the Franco-British position, stretching northward and southeastward, near Maubeuge.

Lille Not Yet Occupied.

Late telegrams from the amphitheatre of war indicated that the Germans had not occupied Lille, although there is little doubt that they hold the key to the city and are in a position to take possession if they desire. A significant dispatch to the Times from its correspondent at Boulogne says:

"It is asserted that German troops, presumably cavalry, broke through the French lines near Arras in the French department of Pas de Calais. The French moved up with rapidity, it is declared, and have the situation well in hand. The allied troops are being swiftly arranged to deal with any further attempt to break through the allied line between Dunkirk and Lille."

Arras is just 100 miles northeast of Paris and is 28 miles within French territory, over the Belgian border.

Much anxiety is apparent over the situation in Northeastern France, the Chronicle speaking of it as "exceedingly critical." Again it says:

"The Germans are moving very rapidly. Their mobility is surprising. There is still ground, however, for the hope that the German advance may be repelled."

The allies line of communication between Valenciennes and Lille has been cut near Orchies, which is six miles southeast of Douai.

From their position between Tour and Lille, where German cavalry was reported on Monday, the invaders have moved forward about seven miles.

ENGLISH DEFEATED

Germans in Hot Pursuit of Retreating British

Berlin, via Copenhagen and London, Aug. 29.—Official announcement was made here of the defeat of the English at Maubeuge, in France. The war office said that the English troops were retreating, but that the forces of General von Klug were in hot pursuit and threatening to surround them.

The following details of German success were also announced:

Troops led by General von Buelow and General von Hansen crushed the combined Franco-Belgian forces of about eight corps near Namur, along the Meuse and Sambre rivers. The battle lasted several days, but the Belgians and French were forced to flee and are now being pursued to the east ward of Maubeuge.

The attack on the British forces of Maubeuge was opened by Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg. The British troops resisted stoutly, but were finally driven across the Semois river.

The army led by the Crown Prince Frederick William is advancing toward the Meuse.

French troops are reported by the Crown Prince of Bavaria Rupprecht to be attacking his forces from the direction of Nancy and the south.

The campaign in the Vosges is being conducted by General von Heeringen, who is pressing southward.

RUSSIANS INVADE EAST GERMANY

'Berlin in Three Weeks' Is Aim of Russo Army.

275 MILES FROM CAPITAL

Czar's Troops Cross Vistula River and
Invade Germany—Four Russian Armies, Eight Million Strong, Crushing all Opposition.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—Russian troops invading Germany have crossed the Vistula river.

The mouth of the Vistula river is 275 miles from Berlin. Near Bromberg, the river makes a bend that brings it only 225 miles from the German capital. It is probable that the crossing referred to in the foregoing dispatch was at a point southwest of the mouth.

Advancing rapidly through Galicia a Russian army has attacked Lemburg, capital of the Austrian province from the east and southeast, according to an official statement issued by the general staff. Three Austrian army corps, 120,000 men, are opposing the Russian army about Lemburg, but the war office states "all goes well with the Russian troops." Russian aeroplanes are flying over Lemburg and learning the disposition of forces there.

"Berlin in three weeks," is the plan of the mighty Russian army. Eight million men are ready to cut their way through Germany to the kaiser's palace. Many of them are already engaged crushing through Prussia, and the others will follow when a path has been cleared.

It is said that the Russian troops have been divided into four armies of 2,000,000 men each. These armies will be hurled one after the other through East Prussia and Galicia toward the goal, the succeeding armies filing each general engagement. Thus Russia expects to confront German re-enforcements with fresh troops.

The war office states that aeroplanes scouts have learned that there are only five to seven German corps 200,000 to 280,000 men, scattered through East Prussia.

This indicates that Germany has massed almost its entire army against the allies in the western theatre of war on the French border.

It is understood that 1,000,000 men have been mobilized by the general staff, and that 5,000,000 of these are engaged in the campaign against Germany. They have driven a wedge between the German forces, forcing them in many instances to abandon strong positions without a conflict in order to escape being cut off.

This was the case at Allenstein, which the Russians expect to occupy within twenty-four hours. The force there fell back to Osterode, where they are in a serious position because they are unable to take large supplies from Allenstein.

So confident are the Russians that their troops will enter Berlin within a short time that a fund is already being raised to reward the first soldier that goes into the German capital. The contributions range from 500 rubles to two rubles, rich and poor doing their share. One hundred thousand dollars already has been raised.

The occupation of Tilsit was confirmed in another official announcement, which also stated that Russian forces had defeated the Austrians at Tomaszow, in Russian Poland.

The British military authorities announce the capture of an immense amount of spoils of war from the Germans at Tilsit. The garrison and the inhabitants fled before the approach of the Russians. Regular postal communication has been established between towns in East Prussia occupied by the Russian army, including Insterburg. Postal packets are reaching these cities bearing Russian stamps.

Tomaszow is 65 miles from Krasnik, where a dispatch from Berlin says the Russians suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of the Austrians.

The Russian army that is moving southwest in Galicia, says the general staff has beaten the Austrians at Monasterzysko and crossed the Dniester without difficulty.

Lemburg is the most important military station of the Austrians in Galicia and controls the railroad lines in the eastern part of the province, five lines running in different directions from there. The surrounding district is rugged and will undoubtedly prove difficult, but the Russians will not suffer the trouble there that they have met in Eastern Prussia, where they are advancing against the Germans along a line 150 miles long.

The difficulties which nature had placed in the way of the Russians were enormously multiplied by the Germans. Numerous rifle pits were dug, formidable redoubts were built of trees, and these were strengthened by barbed wire entanglements. In the face of these obstacles the Russian soldiers charged with the bayonet and swept the Germans from their strongholds.

Zeppelin Goes to Front.

Rome, Aug. 29.—Count Zeppelin, the seventy-six-year-old inventor of aerial warships, has left for the front to fight in the Kaiser's army according to a dispatch received from Berlin.

RUPPRECHT OF BAVARIA

Heads Victorious German Army
in France

© 1914, by American Press Association.

BASE BALL SCORES

Following is the Result of Games Played Yesterday.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

At New York—New York, 9; St. Louis—5. Batteries—Leverenz, Hoch Hale; McHale, Nunamaker.
At Philadelphia—Chicago, 8; Philadelphia, 2. Batteries—Scott, Clotte, Schalk; Plank, Wyckoff, Schang.
At Boston—Detroit, 3; Boston, 0. Batteries—Cavett, Stange; Leonard, Carrigan.
At Washington—Cleveland—rain.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
Athletics 89 88 678 Chicago 57 63 475
Boston 66 49 574 St. Louis 55 63 466
Washington 61 54 539 N. York 54 64 458
Detroit 60 59 504 Cleveland 59 52 522

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

All games postponed—rain.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
N. York 61 49 555 Cincinnati 55 60 459
St. Louis 64 54 542 Brooklyn 52 61 459
Boston 60 51 541 Philadelphia 51 60 458
Chicago 60 55 522 Pittsburgh 46 65 414

FEDERAL LEAGUE.

At Brooklyn—Buffalo, 3; Brooklyn, 2. Batteries—Moran, Blair; Maxwell, Land, Watson.

At Baltimore—Pittsburgh—rain.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
Brooklyn 66 49 571 Brooklyn 55 60 459
Chicago 63 51 533 Kansas City 54 62 466
Baltimore 63 52 536 St. Louis 52 64 418
Buffalo 57 55 522 Pittsburgh 46 65 414

TRI-STATE LEAGUE.

At Trenton—Allentown, 4; Trenton, 2. Batteries—Kunkle, Ehrer; McEhan, G. Smith.

Wilmington—Harrisburg; Postponed, rain.

Reading—Lancaster; Postponed, rain.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
Harrisburg 68 39 694 Wilmington 44 55 444
Allentown 66 33 667 Trenton 40 60 400
Reading 54 45 545 Lancaster 25 74 253

MEXICO CITY QUIET

Entire Police Force of Republic's Capital to be Re-organized.

Mexico City, Aug. 29.—The city has been tranquil for the last twenty-four hours following the clash between the police and Constitutionalists, which resulted in considerable use of firearms and the killing of several persons.

The entire police force will be disbanded and a new force organized. The city is now being patrolled by Constitutional troops. The members of the gendarmerie who were arrested in connection with the outbreak are still in prison.

In order to relieve the stagnation in business, due to lack of change, the government will issue $5,000,000 in paper bills in denominations of 10, 20 and 50 cents.

A commission headed by General Cabrera has left for Yauhtepac to confer with Emiliano Zapata, the rebel leader, relative to peace terms.

It is reported that 250,000 non-combatants are starving in the state of Morelos. An appeal for aid for them was sent to Washington through the American Red Cross representatives.

H. C. Frick is Better

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 29.—The condition of Henry Clay Frick, the steel magnate, who is ill at his summer home at Prides Crossing was improved. His physician said that no serious results were anticipated. Mr. Frick's illness has been described as a slight touch of rheumatism.

GENERAL MARKETS

PHILADELPHIA — FLOUR firm; winter clear, $14.45; city mills, fan, $6.25@6.30.

RYE FLOUR firm; per barrel, $4.10@4.30.

WHEAT firm; No. 2 red, 96¢@91¢.

CORN firm; No. 2 yellow, 94¢@95¢.

OATS steady; No. 2 white, 48¢@49¢; lower grades, 46¢.

POTATOES steady; per barrel, $1@1.25.

POULTRY: Live steady; hens, 17¢@18¢; old roosters, 12¢@13¢. Dressed firm; choice fowls, 20¢@21¢; old roosters, 12¢.

BUTTER firm; fancy creamery, 33¢.

EGGS steady; selected, 33¢@35¢; nearby, 30¢; western, 30¢.

Live Stock Prices.

CHICAGO—HOGS lower; bulk of sales, $8.85@9.20; light, $8.85@9.30; mixed, $8.65@9.35; heavy, $8.50@9.20; rough, $8.50@8.65; pigs, $7@8.70.

CATTLE weak; heaves, $6.75@10.60; steers, $1.30@9.40; stockers and feeders, $5.40@8.10; cows and heifers, $3.60@9.70; calves, $7.75@10.75.

SHEEP lower; sheep, $5.10@6.05; yearlings, $6@7; lambs, $6.50@8.50.

Fiske Utilitarian Fish.

The fiske is the most utilitarian fish on the Atlantic seaboard.

PERSONAL NOTES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Paragraphs of News Telling of the
Happenings in and about Town
People Visiting Here and Those Sojourning Elsewhere.

Mrs. Harold S. Trump, of Montclair, N. J., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. William Bream, of Springs avenue.

Miss Alice Black, of Flora Dale, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. William Bream, on Springs avenue.

Miss Anna Reck, of Baltimore street, is a business visitor in Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Wright entertained her Sunday School class at her home on East Middle street Friday evening.

Mrs. William Zinkand and son, are spending the day with friends in Baltimore.

Miss Myrtle Herpst, of Dixon, Ill., was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Frommeyer the past week.

Jack Daley, of Harrisburg, and friend, of New York, and Mr. Saddle-meyer, of Scranton, spent a short time with Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Frommeyer this week.

The following were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brame, Esther Reaser, Helen Haner, Ruth Reaser, Helen Reaser, Paul Reaser and Elmer Haner, of Gettysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sieber, of McAllisterville, are visiting at the home of B. F. Lightner on East Middle street.

Mrs. Jennie Miller and daughter, Catherine, of Denver, Colorado, are visiting at the home of Rev. H. N. Minnigh on York street.

Guyon Miller, of Water street, is spending several days in York, Lancaster and Harrisburg.

Mrs. Edward Pfeffer, of Baltimore street, is visiting in York.

Mrs. Lakin and daughter, Isabelle, have returned to Erie after visiting at the home of Mrs. Bender on North Washington street.

Miss Leonard has returned to Philadelphia after visiting friends in town.

Miss Hyacinth Beard, of York street, has returned from Fairfield.

Miss Sara Cashman has returned to New Oxford after visiting in town.

Miss Viola Brodbeck, of Hanover, was one of the out of town guests at the Entertainer—Weaver wedding Friday evening.

Mrs. Frances Salters has returned to Pittsburgh after visiting at the home of Mrs. Francis Schriver on York street.

Christopher Clepper and family have returned to Arendtsville after visiting at the home of C. S. Reaser on Hanover street.

Louis A. Engel returned home on Friday after spending several days in Baltimore on business.

Dr. Arthur Brumbaugh and Miss Sara Brumbaugh, of Roaring Spring, have returned home after a visit of several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Blocher, Carlisle street.

Miss Mildred Dabbs, of Baltimore street, has returned home after a business trip of several days to New York City.

Mrs. Wayne M. Keet and daughter, who have been visiting in Avalon, New Jersey, have returned home.

Wendell Sherrick, of Shippensburg, is a guest at the home of Samuel G. Spangler, York street.

Mrs. P. M. Bruner and Mrs. Samuel Bruner have returned home after a visit in Philadelphia.

Miss MacBelle Little has returned to her home on Chambersburg street after visiting friends in Baltimore.

College Heads Various Named.
Heads of colleges in British universities are variously known as wardens, masters, principals, rectors, provosts, presidents, deans and censors.

LIVE AGENTS WANTED: good, talkative agents who own a team, wanted to canvass the county—one for Fairfield section, one for Arendtsville, Bendersville and Idaville section, one for York Springs and East Berlin section, and one for New Oxford and Abbottstown section. For further particulars call on or address, THE INDEPENDENT, Littlestown, Pa.—advertisement

(Copyright by McClure Syndicate.)

HUMAN INTEREST ON GREAT

Best Stories From Scene of Action Run Gamut of the Emotions.

SIDE LIGHTS EUROPEAN WAR

Stirring Deeds of Valor and Remarkable Incidents, Odd and Tragic.

GRAPHIC stories of battle, death scenes and deeds of heroism are coming slowly over censored wires from the European war zone. Some of the most intensely interesting of these narratives are here given:

War incidents which show how the French present a smiling front in the face of the war are related from Paris. At the Gare de l'Est, the eastern railway station where troops by the thousands were leaving for the German frontiers, wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts met and wept in multitudes. But a French soldier turned the tragedy into comedy. On a large cardboard he had painted the signs announcing the destinations of trains in time of peace and hung it on the military special. It read:

"Holiday excursion to Berlin."

Whereupon the women dried their tears and laughed. A woman, her face very white, came out of one of the municipal offices at which official information is given of the death or injury of French soldiers. Four sons had left her a few days ago to join the colors. Another woman came up to her and said:

"Have you good news of your sons? My Jean is safe."

"Yes," the first mother replied, "they are all safe. They are safe in the arms of the Father. I am proud to give all to the cause."

Cows as Barricade.

The story of a skirmish between French and German cavalrymen is told in a letter received in Paris from a young officer at the front.

"Leaving our station to patrol some woods in front of our line," the officer wrote, "we saw in a clearing a dismounted section of German cavalry at the gate of a large farm. The lieutenant in charge of our party ordered half the troop to make a detour and approach the farm from the opposite side while the rest of us attacked from the front. The Germans, hearing the noise of horses' hoofs, ran out of the farm and tried to remount, but we were on them too quickly. Our lieutenant fell with a bullet in his hip, but he was not hurt. I fired two shots, and the animal fell dead. When I was about to shoot the sergeant the lieutenant, who had been carried in, shouted that I should spare him, and he was made a prisoner. Within five minutes another German patrol, attracted by the firing, galloped up. We received them with a hot fire, and the assault lasted twenty minutes. Re-enforcements relieved us shortly, and we trotted back to camp. I took the German sergeant's revolver as a prize."

Bullets Like Bumblebees.

The first actual witness to describe the fighting on the French frontier was a reservist named Jacquelin. This is Jacquelin's story, told on his hospital bed at Chambery:

"All night long we listened to the roar of gunfire. As the dawn appeared we could hear the first Prussian bullets pass our ears. It was a curious sensation. One could say at first that a swarm of bumblebees was passing him. Then we all take our breath, and instinctively one opens his cartridge pouch."

"A brief order rings out. We lie down, and a fusillade begins again. What a noise! We make a few leaps forward and lie down and begin firing again. We carry out this maneuver right to the frontier posts."

"A hundred yards farther are the German positions. The charge bayonets order comes, and we leap forward, and the Germans decamp."

"At last we tread on Alsatian ground. Formidable shouts resound in our chests. I run fifty yards and fall senseless from sunstroke. I recovered twenty-four hours later, but the surgeon would not let me remain on the firing line."

Divide Human Targets.

A Belgian sculptor who answered the call to the colors tells how he and several companions narrowly escaped death in a barn during recent fighting about Liege. He said the Belgian troops in the trenches were in the best of spirits throughout the fighting and would pick out their enemies as the Germans approached and divide them among themselves.

"The tall Goliath is mine!" one man would cry out. "I'll take the sausage to his right," another would reply, and they seldom missed."

The sculptor said that after hours of fighting one of his companions, an artist, was wounded in the shoulder. "I helped him to a barn near by," the sculptor declared. "Some tired soldiers and a farmer were there, and my companion was resting on the stall when the Germans forced their way to the barn. Bullets whizzed about, and the barn was set on fire by the enemy. We knew that to leave the barn meant death in a hail of lead and to remain meant being burned alive. One of the men shouted that he would surrender. Another said he would blow his brains out rather than become a prisoner. The farmer was the only one who kept a cool head. He saw a narrow chink in the wall and began widening it. We helped him, and all managed to squeeze through. The Germans were not on this side of the barn, and we crept toward a wood near by, where we were safe."

"Awaiting Orders to Kill."

Percy Philip, Brussels correspondent of the London News, gives the following picture of life in the Belgian trenches:

"Sometimes the trenches are only just ditches cut like deep furrows among potatoes or along the edge of a field of corn. Others are banked on the attacking side and branches are placed over them to screen the men from the eyes of air men."

"Along the quiet banks of the Meuse between Namur and Dinant are three scores of these (trenches). There I saw men lying in readiness with rifles by their sides. Some were asleep on the earth, with a little straw under them, but ready at a word to seize their weapons. Others were gossiping."

"What do you think of to talk about in the trenches? I asked a man who was off duty for a moment. His answer was:

"Oh, anything—the heat, the flies, our experiences. When one is in a situation such as that one catches at anything interesting. We do not talk philosophy, but some of us practice it. Most are only waiting for orders to kill, perhaps, as one waits for a tram and lets one's interest be taken by anything."

France Muzzles Husbands.

The Paris Matin gives an amusing instance of the severity of the censorship in France. A young Parisian woman received at her house a letter, on the envelope of which she recognized the handwriting of her husband, now serving at the front. She eagerly tore open the envelope, only to find that it was empty, but in the corner of the envelope in a hand quite unfamiliar to her was written the ironic message:

"Madame, your husband is quite well, but he is too communicative."

The young wife understood that her husband's letter must have been intercepted by the military authorities.

Describe Charleroi Charge.

A glimpse of the fighting to the south of Charleroi was obtained by two travelers who were endeavoring to get from Namur to Givet.

"Suddenly above our heads," they relate, "the guns began to speak. A battery opened fire upon a wood on the other side of the valley. From the fringe of this wood German infantry immediately appeared, some fleeing in disorder, others marching out in good formation. From the right and left our shells dropped upon the first of the Germans who fled from the woods, striking them down as they ran under this fire. The panic-stricken infantry fled again to cover under the trees. As they turned a rain of shells destroyed before our eyes the column of troops which was advancing. It was a tragic spectacle."

Captor Returns Sword.

A dispatch to London from Amsterdam tells of the capture of General Leman, commanding the Liege forts, by the Germans.

Battering down one of the outer forts, the Germans found the aged general beneath the wreckage nearly suffocated. He was taken before General von Emmich.

The Belgian handed his sword to the German, but the German returned it "in recognition of General Leman's splendid defense."

General Leman was taken to the military prison at Cologne.

Out of Tunnel to Doom.

Thrilling incidents of the fighting about Liege are being told by wounded men who were in the garrison of the besieged city. One said that a half dozen Belgian carabineers came upon seventy Germans who were escaping through a tunnel. As they emerged the Belgians shot them down one by one. When four had been killed the remaining Germans surrendered, believing they faced a large force.

Many stories are told of the daring of German spies. One spy, in the uniform of a Belgian soldier, slept in a haystack by the side of two Belgian policemen without having his identity discovered.

Grit In Face of Death.

Maastricht, Holland, the gateway to the Belgian theater of the war, presents scenes of suffering and misery seldom seen. Across the neutral frontier have come hundreds of refugees with only the clothes they stand in.

Refugee camps have been established by the Dutch Red Cross and several hospitals have been improvised for the sick and wounded.

The little cathedral has been transformed into a temporary hospital. Stories of the heroism of the wounded

German soldiers are told. One instance was typical:

A German soldier, hardly more than a boy, was brought in fearfully wounded. For two days he lay unconscious. Then, just before he died, a glimmer of consciousness returned. He tried to raise himself, failed, then raised his hand weakly in salute and whispered to his nurse:

"Herr Lieutenant, I report myself."

The whisper in German was his last word.

A young officer lingered for days with a shrapnel hole in his side the size of a baseball. His own condition did not seem to trouble him, but he constantly importuned the doctor to help his comrades who were suffering in coats near by.

Women Spies.

Says the London Daily Mail's Os tend correspondent:

"The spying system of the Germans is said to be remarkably complete. One spy was captured in a fort at Liege, where he had been enrolled as a German reserve officer. Women spies are frequently found disguised as nuns or Red Cross helpers. These latter are known to have stolen across battlefields frequently and notified the enemy of the movements of the Belgian troops while pretending to be succoring the wounded."

"Scores of these spies have been caught and executed. Belgian officers tell me that most of the men spies die calmly and fearlessly. The execution of the women spies, however, is generally made a terrible scene. The women who have been sentenced to death on the recent battlefields usually have struggled and scratched as they have been dragged to the post for execution."

Kitchener's War Bed.

When Earl Kitchener entered the British war office to take up his new duties his first remark was addressed to a porter.

"Is there a bed here?" Kitchener asked.

"No, my lord," was the reply.

"Get one," snapped Kitchener.

Air Pilot a Girl.

Writing in the Petit Parisien, a correspondent from Dijon tells of the alarm caused recently by a mysterious aeroplane apparently pursuing a group of six other aeroplanes on the way to Dijon from the southern center. Soon after their arrival at Dijon the stranger landed near the military aerodrome. The mysterious pilot, on being interrogated, proved not to be a spy, but a young English girl, who had donned a uniform in the hope that she might aid France. She was detained pending the arrival of her parents.

Booms From the Sky.

For the first time in history a great civilized community has been bombarded from the sky. A Zeppelin, heralded only by the buzzing of her motors, circled over Antwerp at 1 o'clock in the morning. Persons who had not yet slept heard the thrumming and darted to their windows as a streak of light shot out from an elongated shadow in the sky. An instant later there was a great crash as a projectile, heavily laden with explosives, tore apart a building 200 yards from the headquarters of the Belgian general staff in the Hotel St. Antoine, which apparently had been the target at which the projectile was aimed.

In all there were ten of these streaks of light from the shadow 1,000 feet above the sleeping city and ten deafening crashes below. They came perhaps half a minute apart.

Hardly had the sound of the first explosion died away before rifles and machine guns, constructed for defense in just such an emergency, were trained on the great shadow overhead and firing was begun on the Zeppelin from all directions below. The fire had no effect and after the tenth projectile was hurled upon the city the Zeppelin rose and disappeared.

Dr. Charles Sarloea of the New York Times-London Daily Chronicle war service says:

"I was awakened at 1 o'clock by a frightful cannonade. A Zeppelin had been sighted about 700 feet above the town. I at once went out into the streets and for eleven hours scarcely left the scene of the catastrophe."

"In a single house I found four dead. One room was a chamber of horrors, the remains of the mangled bodies being scattered in every direction. In the house opposite a husband and wife whose only son had just died in battle were killed—a whole family wiped out."

"The Place du Poldis Public, where the tragedy happened, surpasses in horror anything I ever saw."

Officers Shield Guns.

A letter from an artillery officer at the front, received by a French friend, throws an interesting sidelight upon the spirit animating French artillerymen. The only danger is that they may be overzealous and fire before the proper moment has arrived in order to make it certain that no shot shall be discharged prematurely.

Their officers hit upon the plan of standing immediately in front of the muzzles of the loaded guns until the word to fire was given.

New and Terrible War Weapon.

A French scientist is said to have devised a gas bomb which kills every living thing within 300 yards. The bomb was tried on thirty sheep. It burst 200 feet away, but all the animals succumbed to the deadly gas.

War Halts Alps Climbers.

Climbing the central Alps is forbidden by the military law under which Switzerland now lives. The mountain guides were among the first called to the colors.

Territory Allotted to Beggars.

Beggars in China are taxed, and have certain districts allotted to them in which to make appeals for charity.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CUCUMBER SALADS.

LUNCH.
Molded Salmon, German Dressing.
Cucumber Salad. Rolls.
Iced Tea. Cup Cakes.

CUCUMBERS combined with other vegetables make dainty and cooling summer salads. Some ways of preparing these are suggested here:

With Mint Sauce.

Plain Cucumber Salad.—Peel the cucumber thinly and cut it into very thin slices. Dust these with pepper and salt and add to them a very little finely minced onion. Then add two large tablespoonsful of salad oil and half a gill of freshly made mint sauce. Mix all well together. Stand in a cool place for twenty minutes or half an hour and then serve.

Cucumbers, French Style.—Slice a green cucumber very thin, put it in a basin with half an ounce of salt and pickle for four hours. Drain well and arrange the slices on a dish with pepper, oil, vinegar and a tablespoonful of chopped herbs, such as parsley, chervil and tarragon put over the slices.

Quite a Mixture.

Cucumber and Chicken Salad.—It is by no means necessary to have celery for chicken salad, as other vegetable more available in summer give it an excellent and novel flavor. Crisp, fresh cucumbers, for instance, combine well with the chicken, and French peas add to it a very tempting touch. Use two large cucumbers and one can of peas to every quart of chicken.

Appreciated by Picnickers.

Cucumber Sandwich Salad.—Pare a slender cucumber with a knife that will scallop the edges of the slices. Make a rich paste of cream cheese, chopped olives, a few nuts, the juice of a small onion and some finely chopped celery. Mix well and season with salt and paprika or cayenne. Spread this paste between two slices of the cucumber and lay the tiny sandwiches on lettuce leaves. Cover with mayonnaise garnishing the salad with small strips of green pepper and olives.

A Rich Food.

Cucumber Rings.—Take one cucumber, a little oil, vinegar, pepper and salt, a little minced meat, one hard boiled egg, parsley, two tablespoonsful of cream. Cut cucumber into pieces one inch long, leaving the outside in alternate strips of green by removing some of the rind in strips. Let these soak for a short time in a mixture of oil, vinegar, pepper and salt. Remove the centers and fill with savory mixture of minced meat, chopped yolk of eggs, parsley and cream, all delicately seasoned. Garnish with the chopped whites of eggs and beetroot cut into small dice.

Powerful Windmill.

A windmill recently erected in India has a series of vanes forty feet in diameter.

CHURCH NOTICES

PRESBYTERIAN

Sunday School, 9:15; morning worship 10:30, subject "Redeemed." The Christian Endeavor will unite with other Endeavors in Brua Chapel at 7:30 after the Union Service on the College Campus. Subject "Why and How to Abolish War," Isaiah 65:17-25.

METHODIST

Sunday School, 9:30; Epworth League, 6:45, subject "An Evening with Charles Wesley and his Hymns." Preaching at 7:30, subject "Salvation Wrought out."

EPISCOPAL

Sunday School, 9:45; morning service, 10:30.

GETTYSBURG U. B.

Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.; morning worship and sermon by the pastor, 10:30 a. m., subject: "Vacation: its Benefits and Dangers"; Junior Christian Endeavor meeting, 1:30 p. m.; Senior Christian Endeavor meeting, 3:30 p. m.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Stratton Street: Sunday School, 9:30; preaching, 7:30. Marsh Creek: Sunday School, 9:30; preaching, 10:30.

ARENTSVILLE REFORMED

Regular services resumed. Sunday school at 9 a. m. Harvest Home service at 10 a. m. Christian Endeavor home service at 2 p. m.

CONEWAGO PRESBYTERIAN

Sunday School, 9:30; preaching, 10:30 p. m. Missionary meeting at 3:30.

BIGLERVILLE REFORMED

Sunday School at 1 p. m. Harvest 10:30; evening service 7:30 with sermon by Rev. S. R. Downie.

SALEM U. B.

Sunday School, 9:00 a. m.; evening worship and sermon by the pastor at 7:30, subject: "Wayside Opportunities," J. Chas. Gardner, pastor.

COMING EVENTS

Events Scheduled for Gettysburg during the Coming Weeks.

Sept. 1—Visit Equitable Life Co. representatives from Pittsburgh.

Sept. 7—Driving Matinee. Track west of Gettysburg.

Sept. 7—Opening engagement, Loie Francis Stock Company.

Sept. 8—Visit Charlestown, Mass., Knights Templar.

Sept. 9—Base Ball, Allentown, Nix-on Field.

Freak of Minnesota Storm.

After a Minnesota storm a man appeared on the highway attired in a chicken coop. The coop had been blown over his head in such a way that his arms were pinioned to his sides and he was unable to remove his "bonnet."

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Especially For This Newspaper
by Pictorial Review

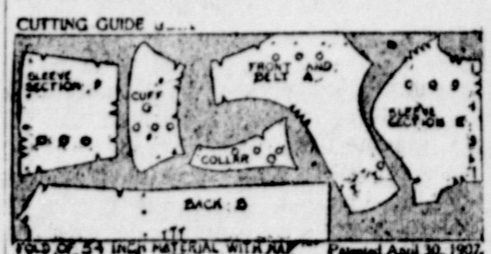

THE SINGLE-BREADED BOLERO.

One of the most pleasing forms of the short bolero jacket is the single-breasted effect. Dark brown cloth is used for this design. Although the front of the jacket falls only to the elevated waist-line, the back is dropped to a length of 41 inches at the back and is cut off in square effect. The skirt is a Russian tunic model faced with satin to match the long sleeves of the jacket. For the entire costume 3½ yards of 44-inch material are required for body of jacket and tunic, with 3 yards of 44-inch contrasting material for sleeves and skirt.

The back (B), marked by triple "TTT" perforations, is cut on a fold of the goods. Then arranged on a lengthwise thread are the sleeve section, cuff, front and belt and sleeve section.

Today's lesson is confined to the development of the jacket, which should be begun by closing the shoulder seam. Close sleeve seams as notched. Turn under lower edge of upper sleeve section on slot perforations, lap on lower section to small "o" perforations, notches even, and stitch. Close cuff seam as notched to small "o" perforation; tack upper edges together with long stem loops. Sew to armhole edge of front and back as notched. Pleat belt, placing "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations and tack. Lap belt in back, centers even (large "O" perforation indicates center-back), finish with a buckle.

Close back seam of large collar (indicated by double "oo" perforation); arrange collars together, small collar on top, centers and notches even; sew to neck edge, notches and center-backs even.

It is considered both mannish and smart to bind these little coats with featherbone braid. The tunic may be finished in the same way, also the deep cuffs.

Stunning brown cloth costume made with single-breasted bolero jacket and three-piece tunic skirt. The mannish braid binding gives it a distinctive air.

Pictorial Review jacket pattern No. 5826. Sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 bust. Price, 15 cents. Skirt No. 5193. Sizes 21, 23, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 waist. Price, 15 cents. Tunic, No. 5770. Sizes 21 to 34 waist. Price, 15 cents.

RESOLUTIONS

At a meeting of the Lutheran Mite Society of Fairfield a committee was appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Mrs. C. A. Landis.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in His all-wise Providence has seen fit to remove from us our beloved sister and co-worker,

Whereas, Our society wishes to express its grief at the great loss it sustained in her death therefore be it

Resolved, That our society has lost one of its best members who was a willing worker and while we bow in humble submission to the will of our Father we feel that our loss is her eternal gain.

Resolved, That we deplore the death of our sister and extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and pray God's richest blessings may comfort them in their sorrow.

Resolved, That we deem the character and example of our departed sister, one worthy to follow, and that we pray God that He may make us all willing workers in the kingdom here below.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded in our minutes and be published in the county and a copy of them be sent to the family.

Mrs. J. B. Waddle,

Mrs. Robert S. Reindollar,

Mrs. Frank M. Moore.

—advertisement

P. R. R. is Switching Rate Cut

Washington, Aug. 29.—The Pennsylvania railroad's charge of four cents a hundred pounds for switching cars laden with iron fly wheels at Harrisburg, was declared unreasonable by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the rate of two cents a hundred ordered established. The Hamilton Ohio, machinery manufacturers protested the rate.

Kills Himself With Dynamite.

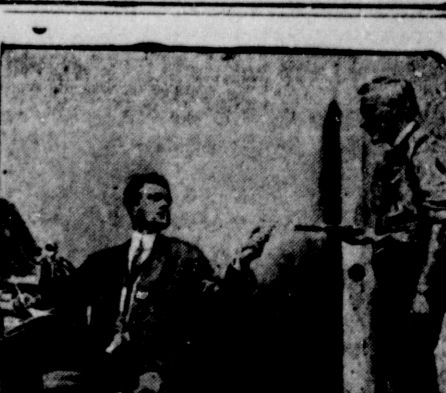

Doylestown, Aug. 29.—Placing a stick of dynamite in his mouth and setting it off, Benjamin Doyle, seventy-three years old killed himself in a woods near Perkaskie. The explosion blew away his head and shoulders. He is survived by a daughter living in Philadelphia.

ADOGRAM

No. 25

Despite wind or weather a straight line continues to be the shortest distance between two points.

Newspapers are the straight line between the factory and the consumer. Products advertised in the newspapers reach a definite public at the proper time. Dealers push goods advertised because the demand is created at their doorsteps. Newspapers are the link between production and demand—the quick way of converting product into profit.

Training Outweighs Long Service

There is no better proof of this than the every-day scenes of long service, untrained employees at the beck and call of younger men who occupy the big positions because of their training. It's a case of Training vs. Long Service—with the odds in favor of the trained man. Get out of the untrained rut. Mark and mail the attached coupon and let the I. C. S., of Scranton, tell you how you can qualify for a better position. How you can protect yourself against servitude in your old age. How you can become an expert at your chosen line of work.

That the business of the I. C. S. is to Raise Salaries is shown by the monthly average of 400 letters voluntarily written by students reporting salaries raised and advancement won through I. C. S. help. No necessity for leaving home. No books to buy. Marking the coupon puts you to no expense and places you under no obligation. Mark it NOW.

International Correspondence Schools
Box 888, SCRANTON, PA.

Please explain, without further obligation on my part, how I can qualify for the position, trade or profession before which I have marked X

Automobile Running	Electrical Wiring
Poultry Farming	Electrical Engineer
Bookkeeping	Mechan. Draftsman
Stenography	Mechanical Engineer
Advertising Man	Telephone Expert
Show-Card Writing	Stationery Lighter
Window Trimming	Textile Manufacturer
Commercial Illustrating	Civil Engineer
Industrial Designing	Building Constructor
Architectural Drafting	Architect
Chemist	Spanish
Languages	French
Banking	German
Civil Service	Italian
	Mine Superintendent

Name _____

St. & No. _____

City _____ State _____

Let our local agent explain details to you

Don't hesitate to call on him

C. W. CHRISMER
At the Book Store
104 Balto. St.

HAY
Farmer's: I will buy your hay and pay
you cash.

T. E. BLAIR
United Phone Gettysburg

CHICKEN CORN SOUP FESTIVAL

St. Mary's Grove, FAIRFIELD
Saturday Afternoon & Evening
September 5, '14

DANCING

THE HOTEL FOR WOMEN.
MARTHA WASHINGTON
EAST 29TH STREET.

Near Madison Ave., Two Blocks front Broadway
NEW YORK CITY

A modern high class fireproof hotel, situated in the most desirable residential section in New York, convenient to the leading department stores, theatre, &c.

Here is a hotel where the ladies can come to New York and find excellent accommodations.

$1.50 per day and up.

It is the only hotel catering to women exclusively. It has every modern improvement. All rooms are very large and the service at this famous hotel is known the World over.

Special rates for long terms.

BOOKLET ON APPLICATION

NOTICE.....

The first term of the Biglerville High School will open SEPTEMBER 7th. Application for enrollment should be made to W. E. KAPP, Secretary, Biglerville, Pa.

The Adventures of Kathlyn

By HAROLD MAC GRATH

Illustrated by Pictures from the Moving Picture Production of the Selig Polyscope Co.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Kathlyn Hare, believing her father, Col. Hare, Jr., had been killed in the battle of the Marston, had fled to India. She had been found by the British raj in the jungle, and she had been taken to the palace of the rajah, where she had been kept for some time.

CHAPTER II—Arriving in Allahah Kathlyn is informed by Umballa that her father had been killed in the battle of the Marston, and she had been taken to the palace of the rajah, where she had been kept for some time.

CHAPTER III—She still refuses and is told that she must undergo two ordeals with wild beasts. If she survives she will be permitted to leave.

CHAPTER IV—John Bruce, an American, saves her life.

CHAPTER V—The elephant which carries her from the scene of the trial runs away, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party.

CHAPTER VI—She takes refuge in a ruined temple, but this is the abode of a lion and she is forced to flee from it.

CHAPTER VII—She finds a retreat in the jungle, only to fall into the hands of cave traders.

CHAPTER VIII—Kathlyn is brought to the public mart in Allahah and sold to Umballa, who, finding her still beautiful, throws her into the dungeon with her father.

CHAPTER IX—She is rescued by Bruce and his friends.

CHAPTER X—Colonel Hare also is rescued. Umballa, with soldiers, starts in pursuit. Kathlyn is struck by a bullet.

CHAPTER XI—The fugitives are given shelter in the palace of Raja Khan.

CHAPTER XII—Supplied by camels to the hospitable prince they start for the coast, but are captured by brigands. Umballa journeys to the fair of the bandits, makes the colonel a prisoner and orders Bruce and Kathlyn killed.

CHAPTER XIII—The bandits quarrel over the money paid them by Umballa and during the confusion Kathlyn and Bruce escape and return to Allahah. They concoct a plan to rescue the colonel.

CHAPTER XIV—The colonel is nominally king, but really a prisoner. It is arranged to find a bride for him. Kathlyn gains access to the palace in disguise, and her rescue plans are successful when the bandits escape, throwing the court into confusion.

CHAPTER XV—During the panic Ramabai and Bruce rescue Kathlyn and her father, and the party starts away from Allahah.

CHAPTER XVI—The colonel hears that the younger daughter, Winnie, is about to marry in Allahah. He orders that she be brought back to Allahah. Winnie arrives before they do and walks into the trap prepared for her by Umballa. Winnie is crowned queen. Kathlyn and her father attend in disguise and make their presence known to the court.

CHAPTER XVII—Kathlyn, in disguise, gains admission to Winnie's room, but is discovered by Umballa. Kathlyn orders that she be offered as a sacrifice to the god Jagannath. She is rescued by the colonel and his friends.

CHAPTER XVIII—Kathlyn, disguised as an animal trainer, takes part in a public exhibition, revealing her identity to the people and rescues her sister.

CHAPTER XIX—Kathlyn, Winnie, their father and Bruce find a hiding place in the home of Ramabai. The latter's wife, Pundita, is the lawful queen of Allahah, and public sentiment is in her favor. The people at last, weary of Umballa's tyranny, rise against him, and Ramabai, at the head of the rebels, and the colonel fighting under him. The rebels at first are defeated, but Kathlyn's timely appearance inspires them and the tide turns in their favor.

CHAPTER XX—The arena lions escape and Kathlyn secures safety in a deserted house. She is discovered by Umballa, who is feeling with the rebels. Mad for revenge he sets fire to the house.

CHAPTER XXI—Escaping from that disaster, Kathlyn next threatens, but a servant sacrifices himself and saves Kathlyn. Ramabai has long suspected that the real king did not die, as was announced. With the assistance of Bruce and Hare he finds the king where he had been imprisoned by Umballa and rescues him to the palace.

CHAPTER XXII—She withdrew from her father's arms and sought those of the man who loved her and whom she loved, as youth will and must. "Let him go. Why should we care? Take me to my sister." Ahmed smiled as he and his men rolled the net. This was as it should be. For what man was a better mate for his golden-haired mistress? And then he thought of Lal Singh, and he choked a little. For Lal Singh and he had spent many pleasant hours together. They had worked together in play and in war, shared danger and bread and glory, all of which was written in the books of the British raj in Calcutta.

It was the will of Allah; there was but one God, and Mahomet was his prophet. Then Ahmed dismissed Lal Singh and the past from his thoughts, after the philosophical manner of the Asiatic, and turned to the more vital affairs under hand.

At Ramabai's house there was a happy reunion; and on her knees Pundita confessed to her lord how near she had been to Christian damnation. She had fallen from grace; she had reverted to the old customs of her race, to whom suicide was not sin. Ramabai took her in his arms and touched her forehead with his lips.

"And now," said the colonel, "the king!" Ramabai's head sank.

"What is the matter? Is he dead?"

"If I knew that," answered Ramabai, "I would rest content."

"But you searched the royal prison?"

"And found nothing, nothing!"

"What do you believe?"

"I believe that either the Council or Umballa has forestalled us. We shall visit the Council at once. They are prisoners. If they have had no hand in the disappearance of the king, then we are facing a stone wall over which we cannot leap. For Umballa has fled, with no one knows, and with him has gone the secret. Come, we shall go at once to the palace prison."

The Council which had ruled so long

Copyright by Harold MacGrath

in Allahah was very humble indeed.

They had imprisoned the king because he had given many evidences of mental unbalance. Perhaps unwittingly they had proclaimed his death. Durga Ram had discovered what they had done and had held it over their heads like a sword blade. That the king was not in his dungeon, why and where, was beyond their knowledge.

They were in the power of Ramabai; let him work his will upon them. They had told the truth. And Ramabai, much as he detested them, believed them. But for the present it was required that they remain incarcerated till the king was found, dead or alive.

In the palace soldiers and servants alike had already forgotten Umballa. To them it was as if he had not existed. All in a few hours. There was, however, one man who did not forget.

Upon a certain day Umballa had carelessly saved his life, and to his benefactor he was now determined to devote that life. This man was the majordomo, the chief servant in the king's household. It was not that he loved Umballa; rather than he owed Umballa a debt and resolved to pay it.

Two days later, when the fires were extinguished and the populace had settled back into its former habits, this majordomo betook himself to Umballa's house. It was well guarded, and by men who had never been close to Umballa, but had always belonged to the dissatisfied section, the frankly and openly mutinous section. No bribery was possible here; at least, nothing short of a fabulous sum of money would dislodge their loyalty to Ramabai, now the constitutional regent. No one could leave the house or enter it without scrutiny and question.

The servants and the women of the zenanas remained undisturbed. Ramabai would have it so. Things had been put in order. There had not been much damage done by the looters on the day of the revolt. They had looked for treasure merely, and only an occasional bit of vandalism had marked their pathway.

On the pain of death no soldier might enter the house.

The majordomo was permitted to enter without question. He passed the guards humbly. But once inside, beyond observation, he became a different man. For in Umballa's house, as in Ramabai's, there were secret chambers, and today the majordomo entered one of them—through a panel concealed behind a hanging ispanhan rug.

On the night after the revolt, Umballa, sober and desperate, had drunk back disguised as a candy seller. The house was not guarded then, so he had no difficulty in gaining admittance. But he had to gain entrance through a window in the zenana. He would not trust either his servants, his slaves, or his chief eunuch. To the women of his own zenana he had always been carelessly kind, and women are least bribable of the two sexes.

Umballa entered at once his secret chamber, and food and water were brought, one of the women acting as bearer, on the morning after the guards arrived, and Umballa knew not how long he might have to wait.

Through one of the women he sent a verbal message to the majordomo, with the result that each day he learned what was taking place in the palace. So they hunted for the king?

He was very well satisfied. He had had his revenge; and more than this, he was confident when the time came he would also gain his liberty. He had a ransom to pay: the king himself!

Now, then, Ramabai felt it incumbent on him to hold a banquet in the palace, there to state to his friends, native and white, just what he intended.

And catching the majordomo by the shoulders, "Poison, and it was meant for me. Speak!"

"Lord, I will tell all. I am dying!"

It was a strange tale of misplaced loyalty and gratitude, but it was peculiarly oriental. And when they learned that Umballa had been hidden in his own house and the king in a hut outside the city they knew that God was just, whatever his prophet's name might be. Before he died the majordomo explained the method of entering the secret chamber.

The quail and pheasant, the fruits and wine remained untouched. The hall became deserted almost immediately. To the king first; to the king! The Umballa should pay his debt.

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in motion. The priests, the real rulers of Allah; the wise and patient gurus, who held the most compelling of all scepters, superstition! Double fool that he had been not to have thought of this before! He knew that they hated Ramabai, who in religion was an outcast and a pariah, who worshiped but a single God whom none had ever seen, of whom no idol had been carved and set up in a temple.

Superstition!

Umballa threw off his robes and donned his candy seller's tatters, left the house without being questioned by the careless guard, and sought the chief temple.

Superstition!

To cow the populace, to bring the troops to the mark, with threats of curses, famine, plague, eternal damnation! Superstition! And this is why Ramabai and his followers found the empty chamber.

Superstition!

They found the poor king in the hut, in a pitiable condition. He laughed and babbled and smiled and wept as they led him away. But in the secret chamber which was to have held Umballa there was no living thing.

For Umballa had, at the departure of the majordomo, conceived a plan for rehabilitation so wide in its ramifications, so powerful and whelming, that nothing could stay it once it was set in

KAISER LOSES FIVE WARSHIPS

British Navy Wins In First Naval Battle.

SMALLER CRAFT IS DAMAGED

Two Destroyers and Two Cruisers Sent to Bottom and Third Set on Fire off Island of Helgoland—British Armada Intact at End of Engagement.

London, Aug. 29.—It was announced that the British fleet has sunk two German cruisers and two German torpedo boat destroyers off Helgoland. A third cruiser was set afire and was left sinking.

No British ships were lost in the battle it was added, and the British loss of life was not heavy.

In addition to the two torpedo boat destroyers and three cruisers many of the German torpedo boat destroyers were damaged.

A Central News dispatch from Brindisi, Italy, says that a British destroyer sank an Austrian destroyer off Corfu after a ten minute fight.

Five members of the crew of a Scotch fishing craft which has been sunk by a floating mine thirty miles off Blyth, Northumberland, were landed at Hull.

How Magdeburg Was Sunk

St. Petersburg via London, Aug. 29.—The Russian official account of the destruction of the German cruiser Magdeburg differs little from the German admiralty report. It says:

"Thursday morning when the fog lifted our two cruisers were sent to look for the Magdeburg and opened fire when they found her. The German cruiser replied, but her fire soon ceased. The Russian shells destroyed the funnels and caused an explosion which shattered the bows as far as the captain's bridge. Some of the officers and crew were taken prisoners.

HOLD ABSOLUTION FOR MOURNED POPE PIUS

Cardine Vannutelli Celebrates Solemn Mass.

Rome, Aug. 29.—The latest ceremonies attending the funeral of the late Pope Pius X began with a Mass celebrated by Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli. This was followed by the ceremony of absolution, Cardinal Vannutelli was assisted by Cardinals Agliardi, Falconio, DeLai, and Cassetta. At the congregation of cardinals the session was given over to a discussion of the financial affairs of the Roman Catholic Church. The sudden death of Pope Pius X and the conditions brought about by the European war, has resulted in a financial situation which is causing some anxiety at the Vatican. It is estimated that the conclave which will elect a successor to Pope Pius X will cost about $400,000, a big sum to raise in time of war.

Many of the cardinals arriving for the election of the successor to Pope Pius X appear to incline to the method of arbitration as the most feasible in the present circumstances. It is believed that it would hasten a selection and avoid possible groupings of Cardinals representing European countries now at war.

It is already proposed that seven cardinals, including possibly Cardinal Farley, shall constitute the board of arbitration and that the others abide by their choice. This method is advanced by some of the most prominent cardinals as likely to avoid all unpleasantness under present conditions.

TRAIN DERAILED; 12 HURT

Three Cars Overturned When Passenger Train Jumps Broken Track Port Smith, Ark., Aug. 29.—Twelve persons were injured, none fatally, when a Kansas City Southern passenger train south bound, was derailed near Marble City, Okla.

A broken rail caused the accident. All the cars left the rails and the mail car, smoking car and chair car turned over.

The train left Kansas City for Port Arthur, Tex., the travel was not heavy and only about forty passengers were aboard when the derailment occurred. The injuries of most of the passengers consisted of cuts and bruises. F. H. Hill, of Heavenry, Okla., train master, was among the seriously injured.

Orange Association Elects. Niagara Falls, Aug. 29.—Miss May Bodkin, of Philadelphia was elected supreme grand Matron of the ladies loyal orange association in biennial session. Mrs. Mary Robinson also of Philadelphia, was chosen supreme grand treasurer. Miss Sadie Hanna, New York city, was elected supreme grand secretary. Pittsburgh was selected for the next biennial convention.

Imperial Flour
Sold by Your Grocer
Always :: Satisfies

ENGLAND'S FUTURE RULER.

Prince of Wales is Lieutenant in Grenadier Guards.

Photo by American Press Association.

INNES ON WAY TO TEXAS

Attorney and Wife to Face Charge of Slaying Nelms Sisters.

San Francisco, Aug. 29.—Victor E. Innes and his wife, arrested in Oregon on a charge of the murder of Miss Beatrice Nelms and Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis, arrived in San Francisco in custody of a deputy sheriff and began the journey to San Antonio, Texas, the scene of their alleged crime. Marshall Nelms, brother of the missing women, arrived on the same train with Innes.

Innes, formerly assistant United States district attorney at Carson City Nevada, counsel for Mrs. Dennis, said he was prepared to set up a vigorous defense.

Prince Albert Quits Fleet.

London, Aug. 29.—Prince Albert, King George's second son, who has been with the North sea fleet, was recently taken ill with appendicitis. As rest and quiet were necessary, the Prince landed at a port in Scotland. His condition causes no anxiety, Prince Albert became a midshipman last year, and was attached to the battleship Collingwood.

English to Use Indian Troops.

London, Aug. 29.—The Marquis of Crewe, secretary of state for India, indicated to the house of lords that the government proposed to employ native troops in the war.

German Cavalry Held in Switzerland. Washington, Aug. 29.—Unofficial advices to the Swiss legation report that a German cavalry patrol, which crossed the border, has been interned at Chur.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of United States weather bureaus taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

	Temp.	Weather.
Albany.....	68	Cloudy.
Atlantic City....	68	Rain.
Boston.....	68	Rain.
Buffalo.....	66	P. Cloudy.
Chicago.....	64	Cloudy.
New Orleans....	64	Rain.
New York.....	68	Rain.
Philadelphia....	74	Rain.
St. Louis.....	64	Cloudy.
Washington.....	76	Rain.

The Weather.

Showers today; tomorrow cloudy; east winds.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Bill Steele, Brooklyn's New Pitcher.

Photo by American Press Association.

Bill Steele, former pitcher for the St. Louis Nationals, is now wearing a Brooklyn uniform, and he is expected to help keep the Superbas out of the cellar and possibly to lift them from seventh place to a higher standing. Steele, who is a right hander, has been with the St. Louis Cardinals for two or three seasons and has at time shown flashes of form, but his work has not been consistent. Recently he has been used principally as a relief pitcher. For the Cardinals during the present season he played in seventeen games, has been credited with winning two and is charged with the loss of two. During the seventeen games he issued eight passes and struck out thirteen. Steele was bought outright by Owner Ebbets.

Doping the Pitchers.

This is the tale that is being told, not only in the secret councils of the Cleveland team, but even unto those who wait outside for news:

It appears that one of the Nap pitchers had trouble with his arm. They all have that kind of trouble, but this was a kind of special trouble. So this pitcher consulted a doctor.

"Doc," he said, "this wing is stiff, and I want something to limber her up."

"Here's the dope," answered the doctor, taking a dark bottle from the shelf. "I'll inject a big dose of this in your arm, and in the morning you'll be all right. If you're not, drop in again."

In the morning the pitcher was there. "Doc," says he, "the darn thing is stiffer than ever. I can't ever move it now."

"Impossible!" answered the doctor. "What did I give you?"

"Something out of that dark bottle on the second shelf."

"Did I inject it in the arm?"

"Yes."

"Poor fellow! I'm afraid I can't do anything for you now. I don't know how I came to make the mistake, but that bottle contained liquid cement. The blamed thing is set by this time!"

A Popular Turf Official.

The American turf never had a more popular or better known racing official than Colonel Matt Winn of Louisville, Ky. Colonel Winn's first active participation in turf matters was in 1900, when he was appointed manager of the New Louisville Jockey club. This old time organization had been conducted on obsolete lines, with the result that the directors had a great financial burden to bear. Colonel Winn immediately put into play progressive ideas by tossing aside ancient rules and regulations until he whittled things into such shape that in a few years he not only brought both racing and financial success to Churchill Downs, but also attracted attention to himself throughout the western country. Today the New Louisville Jockey club is one of the foremost racing organizations in the country.

Ice Cream Without a Freezer.

Prepare a sirup from one cupful of sugar and water enough to cover. When it is thick pour on the beaten yolks of three eggs and beat hard. Have in readiness two cupfuls of thick cream to which has been added the beaten whites of three eggs. Combine the ingredients, mix well and turn into a mold with a water tight cover. Pack in ice to which has been added rock salt and let set until firm.

THRIFTY FRENCH WAYS.

Every little item in the poultry yard which can be put to good use should be carefully looked after. "Take care of the pennies; the pounds will look after themselves," is a well known and a perfectly true saying. To succeed in the poultry business, as in any other business, every item of expenditure must be watched very carefully indeed. We can learn a useful lesson in this respect from our French neighbors, who have a saying that everything connected with a fowl is of value except the crow.

The French peasants manage to get a good deal more out of their fowls than we do. The feathers are always carefully collected and stored. Great value is attached to the manure. From the legs and feet a delicious jelly is made. The comb and wattles are pickled and sold in jars, and from the liver of fowls, geese particularly, there is manufactured pate de foie gras, a delicacy of great value. In England the people are not so thrifty, and they attach less importance to these seemingly unimportant details.—American Agriculturist.

COTTONY MAPLE SCALE.

How Shade Trees May Be Freed From These Destructive Pests.

Shade trees of the soft maple and box elder varieties, which have suffered so much from the cottony maple scale during the past two years, may be freed from these destructive pests if they are thoroughly treated this fall with a cheap homemade oil spray.

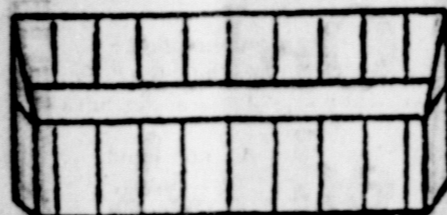

When the trees are dormant—that is, after the leaves have fallen—is the best time to wage war on the scale. A most effective remedy consists of a kerosene emulsion made according to the following formula: Kerosene, two gallons (coal oil, lamp oil); whale oil or laundry soap, one-half pound; soft water, one gallon.

Dissolve the soap in boiling water; then remove from the fire, add the kerosene and thoroughly agitate the mixture until a creamy solution is obtained. This can be done by pouring the mixture into the tank of a spray pump and pumping the liquid through the nozzle back into the tank. This forms a stock solution, which must be diluted before using. In order to make a 10 per cent solution, which is the best strength for spring spraying, add six gallons of water to one gallon of the solution and agitate thoroughly before using. For the fall spray, for a 30 per cent solution, add to each gallon of the stock solution one and one-third gallons of water.

The cottony maple scale affects a wide range of trees and shrubs, but is rarely dangerous to any except the soft maple and box elder.

Remedial measures are not always necessary against this pest on account of the numerous parasites or enemies which usually hold it in check. But it seems from past experiences that the scale appears periodically every six or seven years, lasting for a year or two until the parasites multiply sufficiently to gain again the upper hand and control it for another series of years.—James G. Sanders, Experiment Station University of Wisconsin.

Feed Rack Easily Made.

A feed rack like the illustration shown is made from odd pieces of boards which can be picked up on almost any farm. For four head of horses plan a rack about twenty feet long. Make the frame of poles or planks. The ordinary rack is about four feet high. Cut the pieces of boards the right length and nail them on end ways or, properly speaking, upright. Match them evenly and you will have a perfectly tight rack. This is the least expensive type to build. When it is desirable to have a back for the rack it is made from two foot boards nailed to the tops of the four foot uprights.—Homestead.

Emergency Lemonade.

Grate the rind of six lemons. To this add the juice of a dozen lemons and let stand overnight. In the morning take five pounds of sugar and enough water to make a thick sirup. Remove from the fire, and when cool strain the juice into it. Place into jars that are airtight. Two teaspoonfuls of this sirup added to a glass of water are sufficient.

NO MORE LOSSES FROM WORMS

SAL-VET

The Great Worm Destroyer and Conditioner

WORKS WONDERS

on all farm stock, drives out the pests that steal your profits—that kill your sheep, lambs and pigs—that keep your stock from getting the good of their feed. Sal-Vet is a medicated stock salt. It requires no handling, no drenching, no dosing. Just let all your stock run to it and they will doctor themselves. Stock free from worms gain faster—thrive better on less feed—go to market earlier—keep healthy and put on money making flesh rapidly.

TRY SAL-VET

You'll be astonished at the results. We carry it in stock in all size packages from 75c up and guarantee every pound of it. (61)

Sold by

GETTYSBURG DEPARTMENT STORE

THE WESTERN MARYLAND RAILWAY

5:40 A. M. Daily for New Oxford, Hanover, York and Baltimore.
9:37 A. M. Daily except Sunday for Hanover, York and intermediate points.
10:24 A. M. Daily for Hagerstown, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Hancock, Cumberland, Pittsburgh, Chicago and the West, also Elkins, W. Va.
11:22 P. M. Daily for Hagerstown, Cumberland, Elkins, Connellsville, Pittsburgh and the West.
2:37 P. M. Daily for Baltimore and intermediate points.
5:51 P. M. Daily for Hanover, York, Baltimore and intermediate points.
6:56 P. M. Daily except Sunday for Hagerstown, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Shippensburg and intermediate stations.

Fall Fashions Now Ready For You

If you have never used a

Pictorial Review Pattern

We recommend you to try one—JUST ONE!

Only those acquainted with their merits can appreciate:

The wonderful chic and style of all dresses made after them;

Their accurate fit and style;

Their simplicity and economy due to the Patented Cutting and Construction Guides that save from one-half to one yard of material on each dress.

Try One, Just One

You Will Be Convinced

The Fall Fashion Book

and

September Patterns

Now on sale at our Pattern Counter

A. L. ENGEL

Hub :: Underselling :: Store

Gettysburg, Pa.

Truth, Anyway.
The pupils in an Alabama school were asked to construct a sentence containing the word "amphibious." Quick as a flash the son of a local preacher gave out the following: "Most fish stories am fibious."

Sure He Had It.
She (to husband who has armful of bundles)—"Good heavens, Jack! What are all those things for?" He—"Well, I couldn't remember the thing 'you told me to get, so I got all the things I thought it might have been."—Judge.

Tires at Before-War Prices

Goodyear Prices

It is Folly Today to Pay More

30 x 3 Plain Tread	$11.70
30 x 3 1/2 " "	15.75
34 x 4 " "	24.35
36 x 4 1/2 " "	35.00
37 x 5 " "	41.95

There exists now a new, compelling reason for buying Goodyear tires. It results from War Conditions!

These leading tires—built of extra-fine rubber, in the same way as always—are selling to-day at June prices.

You will find to-day a very wide difference between most tire prices and Goodyears.

Due to Quick Action

Early in August—when war began—the world's rubber markets seemed closed to us. Rubber prices doubled almost overnight.

Men could see no way to pay for rubber abroad, and no way to bring it in. We like others—in that panic—were forced to higher prices. But we have since gone back to prices we charged before the war, and this is how we did it:

We had men in London and Singapore when the war broke out. The larger part of the world's rubber supply comes through there. We cabled them to buy up the pick of the rubber. They bought—before the advance—1,500,000 pounds of the finest rubber there.

Nearly all this is now on the way to us. And it means practically all of the extra-grade rubber obtainable abroad.

THE GOOYEAR TIRE & RUBBER CO., Akron, Ohio

To-day we have our own men in Colombo, Singapore and Para. Those are the world's chief sources of rubber. So we are pretty well assured of a constant supply, and our pick of the best that's produced.

We were first on the ground. We were quickest in action. As a result, we shall soon have in storage an almost record supply of this extra grade of rubber.

And we paid about June prices.

Now Inferior Grades Cost Double

About the only crude rubber available now for many makers is inferior. In ordinary times, the best tire makers refuse it. Much of it had been rejected. But that "off rubber" now sells for much more than we paid for the best.

The results are these:

Tire prices in general are far in advance of Goodyears. And many tire makers, short of supplies, will be forced to use second-grade rubber.

Be Careful Now

In Goodyears we pledge you the same-grade tire as always. And that grade won for Goodyears the top place in Tiredom—the largest sale in the world.

And, for the time being, our prices are the same as before the war. We shall try to keep them there.

We accept no excessive orders, but dealers will be kept supplied. And we charge them, until further notice, only ante-bellum prices.

That means that Goodyears—the best tires built—are selling way below other tires.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS

What happened on Grace's Wedding day was a-plenty. There's lots more to follow

G. W. Weaver & Son

Dry : Goods : Department : Store

Sweater Headquarters

The comfy, handy garment for cool evenings and mornings NOW.

Our New Sweaters are here at old prices for Wool--in great variety of styles, colors and sizes. Advances of from $1.50 to $3.00 per dozen are quoted for reorders. A purchase out of this lot will save you the difference.

G. W. WEAVER & SON

Medical Advertising

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED

NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it--Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith--just once--in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

FOR SALE

Registered Belgian Mare with foal by her side. One three-year old, one two-year old and one suckling colt. All registered Belgian stock.

Duroc Jersey shoats; both Boars and Sows. All eligible to registry.

JOSEPH B. TWINING,
GETTYSBURG STOCK FARM.

PEACHES

Those who want fine peaches Come to Linn's Orchard, Fairfield.

For size, quality, flavor and measure no one has better. Prices reasonable. Can get peaches anytime.

BOTH PHONES

W. M. LINN
FAIRFIELD.

$4.50 EXCURSION

For ATLANTIC CITY

August 13th and 27th and September 10th. Tickets good to return within sixteen days. Stop off allowed at Philadelphia in either direction.

VIA READING RAILWAY

FOR SALE

The farm of A. D. Taylor, deceased, in fruit belt of Adams county, located one mile north of Arendtsville, in Menallen Twp., consisting of ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY (140) ACRES. About fifty (50) acres clear land and remainder in timber. Contains some young Fruit Trees.

To be sold SEPT. 12th, 1914, at 2:00 p. m.

MRS. A. D. TAYLOR,
C. G. TAYLOR,
Arendtsville, Pa.

A Band of Velvet Ribbon

By JOHN Y. LARNED

At a summer hotel in the Adirondack mountains, where there were the usual quantum of young girls and the usual deficit of young men for them to flirt with, Albert King, who needed recreation after too much work, found himself in demand. But King was not a ladies' man, and he demurred.

Nevertheless, there was one girl who attracted him. She was not one of the rocking chair brigade, as the ladies who sat on the piazza were dubbed, for she was not admitted to their charmed circle. Why, King did not know.

King made her acquaintance and was thereafter taboo by the patrician girls, who had no use for a man who would divide his attentions to them with one of another caste. But he did not mind this, for Ellen Blackford, the young lady in question, interested him and relieved the monotony of his stay in the mountains. Besides, he discovered her superiority in one respect, courage, for when a large party were caught out on the lake in a terrific squall and it looked as if their boat would be swamped Miss Blackford displayed no terror whatever, while other girls were desperately frightened.

Miss Blackford never wore short sleeves to her dresses except at the hotel dances, when she displayed a well rounded neck and arms. But at such times her right arm was invariably encircled with a broad strip of velvet. The fact that this part of her arm--midway between the shoulder and the elbow--was never exposed soon began to excite comment. That there was something on her arm to be concealed was evident; curiosity stepped in and would know what it was. But there was a dignity about Miss Blackford that caused curious persons to abstain from making inquiries so the matter remained unexplained.

King was ignorant of the gossip concerning what kind of blemish was hidden under the velvet. He had noticed the fact of Miss Blackford's wearing it but had not troubled himself as to the cause. If he thought of it at all he very likely set it down to the concealment of a scar, probably caused by vaccination. But one day the rumor reached his ears that Miss Blackford was the daughter of a common sailor who, when she was a child, had tattooed on her arm an anchor. Since King had been smitten with the young lady this report naturally interested him.

Whatever he may have thought of Miss Blackford's origin, it seemed to him unlike her to conceal any mark of it. He would rather expect her to permit the whole world to know her for exactly what she was.

Miss Blackford, it seems, was as much attracted by Mr. King as he was by her. Moreover, she noticed that after a certain period he seemed disposed to draw away from her. She knew that what she was concealing was causing a smothered estimation among the young ladies of the hotel and inferred that some one of the many stories that were floating about concerning it had reached him. One day she frankly said to him:

"Mr. King, have you heard the story that I am the daughter of a common sailor who tattooed an anchor on my arm?"

"I have."

"You are the only person in this house whose opinion I care for, but I do care for yours and do not wish, so far as you are concerned, to sail under false colors. My father is or was a landsman and had nothing to do with what is under the circle I wear. But I do wear it to conceal something that has been tattooed on my arm."

"Thank you very much for the preference you have shown me and your frankness. For the first time my curiosity as to that ribbon has been excited, and since you have caused it I look to you to gratify it."

"I assure you that it is nothing to be ashamed of."

"Is it anything to be proud of?"

To this she assented haltingly.

"In that case I insist upon seeing it." After some persuasion she pulled the ribbon down toward her elbow, and there in blue ink under the skin were the letters "Heroine."

King looked at the word, then up at the girl's face and, with a smile, said: "Come; tell the story. I am dying to hear it." "It is not much of a story. For years my family had a cottage on the sea coast. My summers were spent there from the time I was six years old. I learned to swim like a duck and could handle a boat as well as a boy. Our cottage was on one side of a neck of land, and a life saving station was on the other side. One day on our side a ship came ashore. The life men did not know of her being there, and there was not time in which to tell them. There were six men about to drown. I pulled out in my boat and saved them. I was but thirteen years old and didn't know enough to refuse to permit one of the life savers to tattoo my arm."

"You have hurried through your story," said King, "as though it was something to be ashamed of. I'm glad what you are is indelibly written on your person, and if you were mine I would never consent to an attempt to eradicate it."

In time she became his, and there was nothing he was more proud of than the proud title his wife continued to conceal.

Heard on a Side Street.
Boy's Mother (poking her head out of window)--Say, you kids stop picking on my Johnny; he ain't no mandolin.--Boston Transcript.

Jap Wrestlers Coming.

Headed by Tachiyama, champion, a troupe of fifty-four Japanese wrestlers are on their way to this country. Tachiyama has been the undisputed champion of Japan since he won the title in a series of desperate matches with contenders for the crown left by Hita-chiyama, an old veteran, who was declared to be the greatest of all Japan's champions.

Tachiyama has amassed a fortune estimated at half a million dollars during his career. He is a big, good natured man, standing about six feet three inches and weighing about 315 pounds. He is said to be quick in spite of his enormous size. Many of these wrestlers seem to be mountains of flesh which is an advantage at the Japanese style of wrestling--in short, furious bouts much like two bulls locking horns.

Racing at New Orleans.

A race meeting covering ninety days next winter is planned by business men in New Orleans, who are raising a fund of $50,000 to guarantee expenses. They have leased the historic fair grounds. It is said, and there will be no interference with the oral betting system.

New Race of Oysters.

A race of fresh water oysters is possibly developing in Algeria. At a late French meeting of biologists mention was made of the planting of oyster beds in the mouth of the Macta river, where a sandbank has cut them off from the Mediterranean and confined them in fresh water.

Museum of Shoes.

A Berlin, Germany, notary named Auer, who died recently, made a hobby of collecting fine boots and shoes. At the time of his death he had a museum of more than 5,000 pairs. It catalogued and so strictly guarded that not even his wife was permitted to enter the room where he kept the collection.

Prepared for the Worst.

A young author whose disappointments were many, but whose head was bloody yet unbowed, inclosed the following lines with a manuscript to an editor who repeatedly refused his efforts: "Editor--Dear Sir: The inclosed MS. is submitted for your rejection. Yours very truly, --"

Medical Advertising

Hair Made Beautiful

Beautiful hair, thick, fluffy, lustrous and absolutely free from dandruff is not so much a gift of nature as a matter of care and proper nourishment. Hair is like a plant--it will not grow healthy and beautiful unless it has attention and proper nutriment.

Parisian Sage, daintily perfumed and easily applied, tones up and invigorates the roots of the hair, and furnishes the necessary nourishment to not only save and beautify the hair, but also stimulate it to grow long, heavy, soft, fluffy and radiant with life.

When used frequently and rubbed into the scalp, it will simply work wonders. Just one application stops itching head, removes dandruff and cleanses the hair of all dust and excessive oil.

Since Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from People's Drug Store or at any drug store, never disappoints, it is no longer necessary for any woman to be humiliated because of thin, streaky, faded, lifeless or unattractive hair.

GETTYSBURG MARKETS

Prices at the Gettysburg warehouse corrected daily by C. Milton Wolf, Jr. Successor to J. Geo. Wolf's Sons Co.

	Per Bu
Wheat	$1.00
Ear Corn	.90
Rye	.85
New Oats	.40

RETAIL PRICES

	Per 100
Badger Dairy Feed	$1.35
Hand Packed Bran
Coarse Spring Bran	1.40
Corn and Oats Chop	1.50
Shoemaker Stock Food	1.50
White Middlings	1.70
Rye Chop	1.70
Timothy Hay	.90
Rye Chop	1.65
Baled Straw	.60
Plaster	$7.50 per ton
Cement	$1.40 per bbl
Flour	$4.50
Western Flour	6.00
Wheat	$1.10
Shelled Corn	1.00
Ear Corn	1.00
Western Oats	.50

Schools Will Soon Open

We are offering a great line of boy's school suits of the finest fabrics and colors. Price range from $1.95 up to $8.00. These suits are made in the very latest styles with Norfolk coats and full peg top pants. They are designed by artistic designers and made by skillful workmen.

SCHOOL SHOES

For boys and girls, 98 cents, $1.28, $1.48, $1.78, $1.98.

O. H. Lestz,

Cor. Square & Carlisle St.

Gettysburg.

FOR SALE

The John F. Bishop farm situated in the fruit belt, adjoining the Tyson farm at Mapleton, one mile south of Bendersville; 135 acres, 10 acres in timber. Two orchards of apple and peach. The macadam road passes through this farm. Land in a high state of cultivation. Plenty of water on farm and at buildings. Barn 54 x 90, almost new, two wagon sheds, two buggy sheds, machine shed, wood and pump house. Good hog pen. Eight room house in good condition.

For terms apply to

JOHN F. BISHOP,
Aspers, Pa.

Just a Conjecture.
Bill -- "They say that Parisians smoke cigarettes made of the leaves of the coffee plant. Many who have tried them prefer them to tobacco cigarettes." Jill -- "There's a reason. Perhaps a man gets more coupons with them."

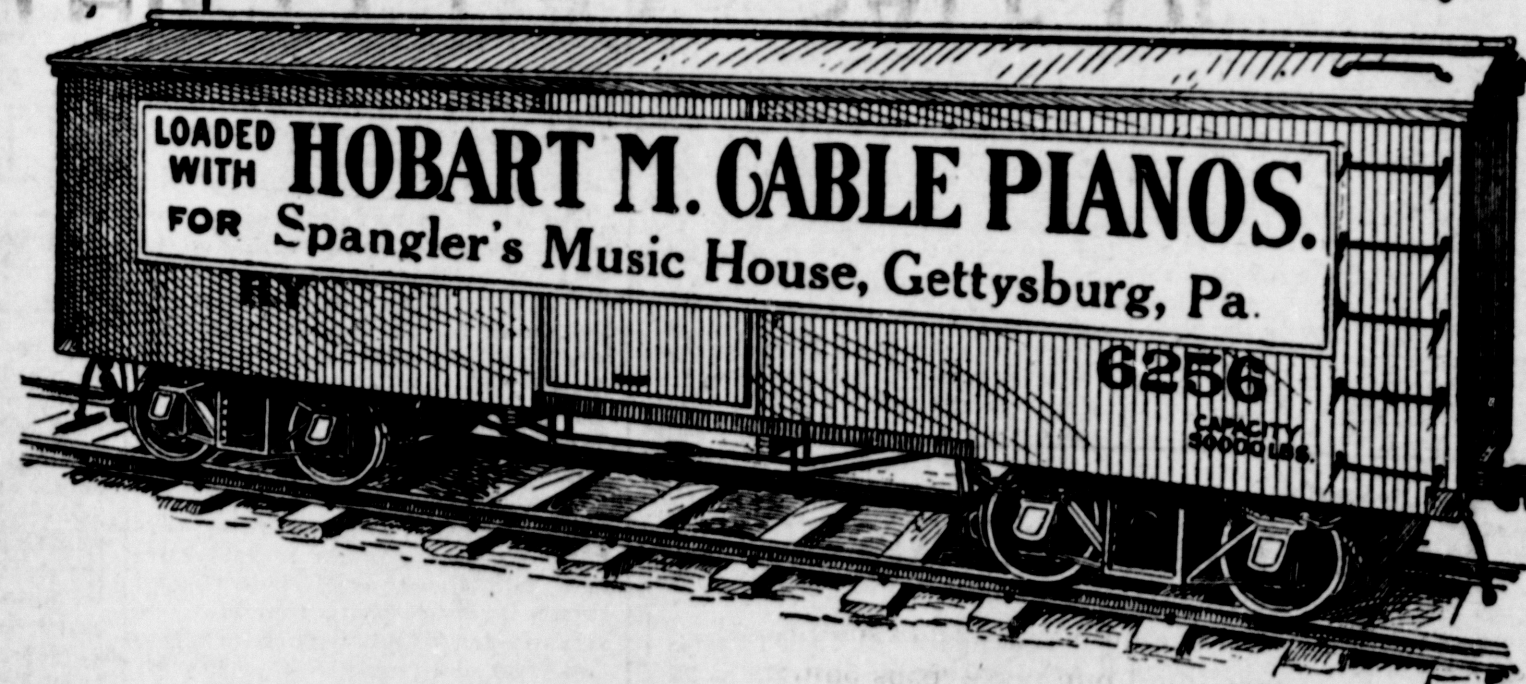

I Will be in GETTYSBURG Every TUESDAY.

At Pen. Myers' Jewelry Store To Examine Eyes and Fit Glasses.
W. H. DINKLE
Graduate of Optic

THIRTY DAYS SALE OF NEW and USED PIANOS STARTING TUESDAY, SEPT. 1, 1914

Our purpose in running these sales is on account of not being able to get to see the people, and we mean to make the prices such that it will justify the people to come in the store and buy a Piano, giving them the benefit of the cost of hauling the pianos around hunting for a buyer.

Have Ordered A Car Load

Car load of Pianos for this sale, enables me to cut in prices on account of freight and cut in price for car load lot. It would be unwise for you to purchase a Piano without coming here to see and hear the Pianos offered at this Exhibition and Sale. Don't let this opportunity slip, for it means a saving of from $75 to $100 on every Piano, if you have the remotest idea of buying a Piano. $10 to $15 in cash is all it costs you down to have any of these beautiful bargains delivered to your home; $6 to $15 per month keeps it there. I will give you a few of the prices, which are extremely low for the quality of the Pianos.

TWENTY NEW PIANOS			USED PIANOS
$700 Hobart M. Cable Player Piano	$515	350 Hobart M. Cable	265 $400 Shoemaker
475 Hasbrock Player	390	335 Hobart M. Cable	250 Olivet Piano
450 Hobart M. Cable	365	290 Piano	210 Piano

TERMS: $1.50 up Per Week.

Stool, Scarf, Book and Tuning Free.

Used Organs Cheap

LIBERAL OFFER

To those who purchase from us a cheap piano we agree to take it back within 3 years at its full purchase price on any new high grade piano which may be selected. This affords an exceptional opportunity to those who wish a medium priced or cheap instrument for beginners.

Every Piano is sold under the WRITTEN GUARANTEE by its makers and if it proves other than we recommend, it will be replaced by a new one, with no expense to the purchaser. The kind of a piano to buy is the one with the maker's warrant.

REMEMBER SALE OPENS TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1st,

Spangler's : Music : House

Victrolas, Singer Sewing Machines.

48 York St., Gettysburg, Pa.

OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

OLD INSTRUMENTS TAKEN IN TRADE.